

ENGAGING MEN HISTORY

Building healthy communities has been the vision of Peace Over Violence for 45 years. Peace Over Violence is committed to creating healthy relationships, families, and communities free from sexual, domestic, and interpersonal violence.

Unfortunately, violence continues to impact our communities, reminding us that our work is not yet finished. The Engaging Men Project combines innovative and holistic approaches with creativity, community and hope, to fully bring about the change we wish to see.

THEATER PERFORMANCE

Peace Over Violence, Brotherhood Crusade, and the Amazing Grace Conservatory, in collaboration with young community leaders, have come together to develop a theater performance that addresses issues of violence in the South LA community. The performance is intended to raise awareness, create dialogue, and invite men to become advocates and leaders in building healthy communities. The performance also seeks to encourage men to stand alongside women and youth to end violence against women.

With courage and a deep commitment to improve their communities, young artists share personal stories of loss, grief, success, bravery and transformation. This original work underscores the personal impact of violence, and serves as a call to action to men and boys from all communities.

To schedule a performance or training workshop, please contact brooke@peaceoverviolence.org or lili@peaceoverviolence.org.

We hope you will be impacted by their reflections, and we encourage you to join our effort to engage men. Please stand with us and help make South Los Angeles free from sexual, domestic and interpersonal violence.
